- You must present original legal presence documents issued by the US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) every time you apply for a license or ID card in the State of Florida. The documents must have at least 61 days remaining until the expiration date. These documents prove that you have been granted permission to lawfully reside in the US.

Note: Anytime you legally change your name due to marriage or court order, your name must first be changed with USCIS before you can apply for a name change on your Florida license or ID card. You will still be required to present your original name change document (e.g. marriage license, court order) and your new name must verify in the State of Florida system.

- You must also show proof of Social Security # (e.g. Social Security Card), if applicable. This proof is only required to be submitted one time after January 1, 2010 in order to be issued a Real ID compliant Florida license or ID card. If you don't have a Social Security #, you must also submit secondary identification.

Note: If you are later issued a Social Security Number, you will need to provide proof to us at that time in order to update your record.

- You must also provide us with 2 proofs of residential address in your name (e.g. utility bill, bank statement, car registration, voter registration, cell phone bill, etc.). This proof is only required to be submitted one time after January 1, 2010 in order to be issued a Real ID compliant Florida license or ID card.

Exception: If you change your residential address after being issued a Real ID compliant license or ID card, you will need to provide two new proofs at that time to update the address on your license or ID card.
